Fifth Ward Canvass Reduces Surratt-Daughtry's Dairy and Revised Figures Go Against Tilley---Official Count Made

RAMSEY WINS IN COUNTY BY 182 ON LAST COUNT

It will be Judge Tom McCullough of the Nineteenth district court and Sheriff S. S. Fleming after Jan. 1. This was the announcement made yesterday afternoon by E. C. Street, chairman of the democratic county executive committee, following an all-day canvass of state and county primary returns. The last count given by Judge McCullough a lead of 49 votes over Judge Marshall Surratt, the present incumbent, and gave Fleming a lead of 21 over Sheriff George W. Tilley, the present incumbent.

From returns over the entire county, as compiled by H. M. Cox of the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company, Judge Ramsey carries McLennan county by 182 votes, receiving 4062 votes to Colquitt's 3820. Returns from every box in the county, as compiled by Mr. Cox, give Sheppard, for United States senator, 3274 votes, a lead of 329 over Wolters, who polled 2945 votes. The Handell vote was 1141. Zollner received 40.

Fifth Ward Favors McCullough.

Turn of the tide in favor of Judge McCullough began Monday morning, when the official returns of the Fifth ward were canvassed. Figures previously compiled gave Judge Surratt 164 votes. The official canvass showed only 104. Judge McCullough received 181. Other figures, which were revised during the day, brought Judge McCullough's lead up to 49.

The report from Daughtry's Dairy precinct, received yesterday, gave Fleming 55 and Tilley 14 votes. Revised figures in other precincts gave Fleming a total of 2384 and Tilley 2363, making Fleming's majority 21. Buchanan's vote runs above 2200 and Cox's nearly 1900. The vote by precincts for Fleming and Tilley follows:

Three Commissionerships Decided.

Other races which were settled yesterday beyond the peradventure of a doubt include the first three commissionerships, Smith winning over Daughtry in Precinct 1, Mosley over Thompson in No. 2 and Willenborg over Cobb in No. 3. The result between R. N. Fullbright and J. N. Boyd in No. 4 is not certain as yet. Neither does W. J. Hannah nor Joe F. Coffey of Waco know who has been elected as fiscal representative from the Sixty-third district, which includes McLennan, Falls and Limestone counties. All other winners were announced in the News Monday morning and the canvass of the various precincts yesterday did not cut down any of the majorities to any appreciable extent.

Few Boxes Lacking.

Returns from all the boxes have not yet been received, aside from those for district judge and sheriff, which were double-checked over the telephone. About eight small country boxes remain to be heard from, and they are expected to come in this morning. Following the canvass

HOLD BECKER FOR MURDER

ARRESTED AND INDICTED FOLLOWING ALLEGED CONFESSIONS TO GRAND JURY.

ROSE FORCED TO SLAY

Said to Have Asserted He Was Made to Kill Rosenthal by Police Under Threats.

By The Associated Press.

New York, July 29.—After a late night session of the grand jury, in which "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon are alleged to have made confessions directly implicating Police Lieutenant Charles Becker in the murder of Herman Rosenthal in front of the Hotel Metropolitan two weeks ago, Becker was indicted for murder in the first degree, placed under arrest and hurried before a midnight session of the court of general sessions.

Taken to Tombs.

After entering a plea of not guilty, the police official was remanded without bail and taken to the Tombs.

The gamblers whose statements are said to have caused the indictment of Becker, pleaded with the officials not to be taken back to the Tombs tonight, declaring they would be killed if returned to their cells.

"Agents of the police department," they declared, "would make away with us in retaliation for our testimony if we are returned to the prison." So real was their fear that they were allowed to sleep in the criminal courts building under a guard of eight detectives.

Great Secrecy Maintained.

The greatest secrecy was maintained as to the admission made before the grand jury by the three men who have been held prisoners for some time in connection with the Rosenthal murder. It is asserted, however, that Rose told practically of being forced to arrange the killing of Rosenthal under threats of being jobbed by the police and sent to prison on manufactured evidence. That Lieutenant Becker was in communication with the actual murderers after the killing also was asserted to have been part of Rose's confession.

Another statement attributed to "Bald Jack" was that for several months he had acted as collector for certain police officials of tolls from gambling houses.

Rushed Before Grand Jury.

The confession of the gamblers was made after Stein and James Sullivan, counsel for the men, had pleaded all afternoon with them to tell what they knew of the murder. Once their consent was won, District Attorney Whitman lost no time in rushing them before the grand jury.

In order to avoid a change of heart on the part of these witnesses the grand jury was assembled for the first night session held by that body in 18 years. With this testimony as a basis, the grand jury acted as quickly and an indictment was voted before the sitting closed.

Probe Given Fresh Impetus.

Becker, who had been arrested on a charge of extortion at his station house in the Bronx, was at once hurried before Judge Mulqueen to plead. It was not until the accused lieutenant faced the court that the full gravity of the charge against him was made known. Indications about the criminal courts building after Becker had been returned to the Tombs were that with the confession of the gamblers fresh impetus had been given to the investigation of Rosenthal's slaying.

Late tonight several subpoena servers were sent from the criminal courts building, and it is reported that they are seeking new witnesses in the neighborhood of the Hotel Metropolitan.

Slayers Known Is Rumor.

Among the rumors circulated late tonight was one that the names of the actual slayers were now definitely known to District Attorney Whitman and that even their present hiding places had been revealed. No one would indicate, however, that the arrests of the much wanted men were in immediate prospect.

An unverified report from Tannersville, in the Catskills, late tonight was that four detectives from New York had arrested Harry Sorowitz there as being one of the alleged members of the gang.

A number of the senate amendments are regarded with some favor by certain of the democrats, especially those from the sugar producing states and Majority Leader Underwood spent tonight in "counting noses" to determine just what his strength is. It is expected the wool bill and the excise tariff measure will be rejected as amended by the senate.

HOUSE TO TAKE UP SENATE TARIFF BILLS

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 29.—Today the house arranged to take up tomorrow the sugar and wool tariff revision bills and the excise tax measure, as amended by the senate, and take separate votes on each. There was every prospect tonight that a sharp fight would be made on the sugar schedule.

A number of the senate amendments are regarded with some favor by certain of the democrats, especially those from the sugar producing states and Majority Leader Underwood spent tonight in "counting noses" to determine just what his strength is. It is expected the wool bill and the excise tariff measure will be rejected as amended by the senate.

HOT YESTERDAY? SOME! THERMOMETER SAYS 103

BREEZE FAILED TO ARRIVE FROM SOUTH AND EVEN THE NATIVES SWELTER.

Waco, heat record for three years was effectively broken Monday afternoon, when the mercury climbed to 103 before it stopped. The heat was oppressive. Sweating people looked in vain to the south for expected relief by gulf winds. Light breezes came up occasionally from the south but it was two hours after sundown before the usual steady breeze from the gulf began to blow. Monday's minimum was 79 1/2 degrees.

People mopped their brows and stayed in the shade. Perspiration rolled down their faces. Only those who were forced to venture out into the sun. Electric fans blew hot air. Cold air could only be found in cold storages and refrigerators. No heat prostrations were reported.

EMPEROR DIES; SON ON THRONE

RULER OF NIPPON WHOSE REIGN EXTENDED NATION TO WORLD POWER SUCCEDES.

LED PEOPLE TO NEW ERA

Accomplished Great Reforms; Feared and Beloved Throughout His Empire.

By The Associated Press.

Tokio, July 29.—Mutsuhito, for 44 years emperor of Japan, died at 12:43 o'clock this morning. Yoshihito Hatsu-Miya reigns under the formal provided by the constitution promulgated by Mutsuhito. "The king is dead—long live the king."

Mutsuhito, who was the 121st emperor of Japan, died quietly. He had been unconscious for many hours prior to his death and the empress, the crown prince and the most prominent officials of the household and government were at the bedside.

Yields to Princess. Haruko, now dowager empress, yields to Princess Sadako, the young empress, who is the mother of three sons, of whom the eldest is Hirohito. Haruko, has won universal sympathy because of her untiring vigil in the sick room, where she remained continuously for ten days. Even on the last day she pitifully begged the physicians for a short respite for the dying emperor.

Everything known to science was done to prolong the life of the sovereign. The whole nation watched pathetically.

The outcome was inevitable from the first acute developments July 19. Death was due to acute nephritis. This was complicated by diabetes and an intestinal affection. As is usual in such cases, the patient on occasions showed marked signs of improvement, followed by a relapse. Since July 25 the condition of the emperor has gradually become worse, with high fever, weak and irregular pulse and shallow respiration.

When the physicians recognized the hopelessness of the case, every preparation was made for the end. The imperial princes, the ministers and the nobility were summoned to the palace and remained in the outer rooms for 24 hours. A few of the oldest, who had been closely associated with the government of the empire, were permitted to see the emperor, while the public, contrary to custom, was taken into the confidence of the physicians, who issued bulletins hourly giving details of the progress of the disease. Even the last announcement was made within an hour.

At the end, upwards of 20,000 subjects paid their last homage outside the palace gates. It was a momentous scene when messengers silently plunged with the crowds and scattered and posted announcements of the emperor's death.

'BEAT IT' OUT OF OLD MEXICO

HUNDREDS OF AMERICAN WOMEN AND CHILDREN FLEE ACROSS BORDER.

THREATENED WITH DEATH

Rebels Ride Horses on Sidewalks, Making Foreigners Take to the Streets.

By The Associated Press.

El Paso, Tex., July 29.—Nearly 600 American women and children, hungry and fatigued, refugees from the Mormon colonies in the Casas Grandes district, 200 miles south of the border, arrived here today by special train. Others are expected tomorrow. That the exodus of Americans from Mexico will be thorough is evidenced. There are already more than 800 refugees in this city. They are from three large and three small colonies, each with almost an entire population—Dublan with 1200, Jaurez with 800, Diaz with 750 and three minor mountain settlements with from 250 to 300 population each.

Thousands in Peril. According to conservative figures given by Mormon church men here, more than 3500 Americans in Mexico consider themselves in grave danger. Only the women and children are being moved, the men remaining disarmed and helpless.

The situation was epitomized today by Enrique E. Bowman Sr., merchant of El Paso, and a high Mormon church dignitary. He appeared before a meeting of El Paso business men in the local Chamber of Commerce building, called to plan aid for the helpless ones who have come to this city.

Ride Horses on Walks. He told how the rebels have begun to drink heavily and to threaten Americans, saying all who remained would be killed.

"For many weeks the rebels have rode their horses on the sidewalks of our little settlements and we have been compelled to take to the streets," he said.

El Paso has housed the refugees in tents and city and county physicians are attending the sick.

To Disarm Americans. Gen. Inez Salazar, who is considered the real head of the army in the field, since Orozco remains in Jaurez, has declared that since the Americans have treated the rebels as bandits and thieves they might as well act the part, and that all Americans in the rebel zone would be disarmed and guarantees of protection withdrawn.

General Salazar is quoted as having said at Pearson yesterday in a speech: "Americans have no business in Mexico and the sooner they get out the better. I do not care whether American intervention comes or not. If our seizure of American arms and ammunition leads to American intervention then I will welcome it. I am going to seize the arms and ammunition of Americans the same as those of Mexicans."

Orozco Says He Did It. Gives as Reason for Disarmament That He Needs Arms. By The Associated Press. Juarez, July 29.—Gen. Pascual Orozco, commander-in-chief of the rebels, today admitted that he was responsible for the order disarming the Mormons, and declares that the United States is to blame. He says he must have arms and ammunition. If the United States will recognize his government, he says, and permit him to import cartridges and arms he will agree to protect all foreigners.

WASHINGTON NOT ALARMED. State Department Thinks Situation in Mexico Not So Grave. By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 29.—A telegram received at the state department from American Consul Edward at Juarez late today seems to have put a quietus on alarming reports which came from Mexico today regarding the intent of rebels to kill every American within the rebel territory. In substance the COLQUITT MAJORITY ON LAST COUNT 38,255.

Special to The Morning News. Austin, July 29.—At 10 o'clock tonight Colquitt headquarters gave out the following statement: "Complete returns from 122 counties and partial returns from 104 counties give Colquitt a majority of 38,255. The vote not yet reported will, in all probability, run the governor's majority up to the figure claimed by him in his estimate of Saturday night. The counties not yet reported are principally in South and West Texas."

Special to The Morning News.

Dallas, July 29.—With the count of complete and incomplete counties passing the 200 mark, election clerks at headquarters here announced at midnight that most of the candidates showing an early lead were still holding their own. The returns are from all sections of the state and it will be three or four days at least, probably a week, before the count is fully completed. The work is delayed by failure of outlying boxes in a number of counties to report. As fast as returns are received relative to any county they are compiled and the county closed as soon as possible.

Last Count Shows Colquitt Lost. Governor Colquitt is still maintaining his lead but it is doubtful if it will run over 45,000. The last count left him with a lead of 30,520, showing a loss of almost 1000.

For associate justice of the court of criminal appeals, Prendergast of Waco is steadily increasing his lead over Muse, returns from 181 complete and incomplete counties giving him a plurality of only 507 votes. Returns complete and incomplete from 125 counties give him a plurality of 3429. Green, third man and not in the running.

Looney Passes Walthall. For attorney general, Looney passed Walthall and is now leading by about 5000 votes. For comptroller, Lane is making a slow steady gain and for land commissioner, Geer is gaining on Robinson. For state treasurer, Edwards is still leading with a good majority.

Securing Address, Black Writes Her and Through Letter Is Arrested.

By The Associated Press.
Duluth, Minn., July 29.—When "Jack" Williams, a porter on a railroad, arrived in Duluth today he was arrested on a charge of attempted criminal assault.

The complaint was sworn by Mrs. Thad. Williams, wife of a theater proprietor at Duluth. Shortly after the train left Duluth a few evenings ago Mrs. Williams retired. There was only one other passenger and he left the car an hour or two later.

It is charged by Mrs. Williams that the negro then locked the doors and attacked her. Mrs. Williams says she fought for two hours with the black.

She finally promised to give him her address and correspond with him. She gave him the address and he wrote her a letter, which she turned over to her husband. The arrest followed.

By The Associated Press.
Boston, July 29.—The strike of the conductors and motormen of the Boston Elevated railway company, which has lasted for 53 days and is estimated to have cost $1,028,000, was ended tonight by the agreement of the company officials to the terms of settlement, the strikers winning every point sought.

The terms of settlement are to the effect that the company will show no discrimination between union and non-union employees and will meet their employees individually or as committees from any organization to discuss grievances.

The strike was called June 7 after the discharge of 300 employees which it was claimed were discriminated against because they had joined a recently formed union.

IDENTIFY BODY AS OF MISSING NURSE

DORA SNODGRASS, DISAPPEARING SEVERAL DAYS AGO, BELIEVED ATTACK VICTIM.

By The Associated Press.
Catskill, N. Y., July 29.—The body of the young woman found yesterday afternoon in Dubois creek, near this village, was identified this afternoon as that of Miss Dora Snodgrass, a nurse who has been missing from the home of her sister in Mount Vernon since July 17. The identification was made by Frederick Schmidt, the young woman's fiancé, an electrical contractor of Mount Vernon, and by Police Lieutenant M. I. Silverton of the same place.

The body was so badly decomposed that identification, except from the jewelry and clothing was difficult. Mr. Schmidt and Lieutenant Silverton immediately identified a diamond ring and portions of the clothing as being the property of Miss Snodgrass. Schmidt recognized the ring as the one he had given her when they became engaged.

Many theories are advanced as to the cause of Miss Snodgrass' death. Coroner Vandenberg has certified that "from the circumstances surrounding the case, the cause of death was from drowning."

Local officials, however, are inclined to believe Miss Snodgrass was the victim of foul play. Lieutenant Silverton expressed the opinion that Miss Snodgrass died as the result of an attack.

NEW KANSAS "WHITE HOPE" MAKES HIS DEBUT

By The Associated Press.
New York, July 29.—Jesse Willard, a 224-pound cowboy from Kansas, the latest of the western white hopes, made his debut before a New York crowd tonight, meeting Arthur Pelkey of Chicopee Falls, Mass. The westerner had all the better of the fighting after the first three rounds.

BABE'S BIRTH TOLD TO GRANDFATHER BY WIRELESS

Janitor Experimenting With School Receiver, Hears the News of Stark's Arrival.

Special to The Morning News.
Los Angeles, July 29.—Scientists and wireless telegraph experts yesterday were puzzling over what was declared to be one of the strangest message transmissions ever recorded. This latest wireless freak was reported from San Fernando.

W. L. Bush, janitor of the high school building, was in the room where the wireless instruments used in special classes are kept. Out of curiosity he adjusted the receiver to his ear and was dumfounded at what he heard.

"Tell your mother that Marjorie Bush Reed has a seven-pound baby boy," he heard distinctly in human voices instead of the crackling dots and dashes which usually were caught when he had tried the receiver before.

Bush listened intently but heard no more. Out of the air had come the message that he was a grandfather. He hurried to the home of his daughter and there found a newly-married grandson.

He told how he had received his information and the local scientists investigated. It developed that the words Bush heard were spoken in a conversation between Miss Dorothy Folger and Miss Anna Hollister, near the Reed home.

MRS. BELMONT SNUBBED WHEN SHE OPENED SUFFRAGE FIGHT

Fashionable Women Stay Away from Headquarters of "Votes For Women."

Special to The Morning News.
Newport, R. I., July 29.—With all her lifelong friends from the fashionable cottage settlement conspicuous by their absence, Mrs. H. P. Belmont opened her woman suffrage headquarters here this afternoon.

Though none of society's leaders put in an appearance, there was an enthusiastic crowd present, suffragettes from all sections of New England gathering for the occasion. They came on foot and in automobiles from long distances. Mrs. Belmont, in a robe of exquisite white, welcomed them all alike. She did not seem to mind the absence of the society folk, as she stood smiling contentedly in the center of a large group of earnest women.

In her speech of welcome Mrs. Belmont announced that the headquarters, which she opened at her own expense, would remain open all summer, if not longer. She made a few remarks regarding ways and means of carrying on the work, and was roundly applauded.

The opening of headquarters here is Mrs. Belmont's first step toward reaching the Rhode Island legislature in an effort to have them submit suffrage to a popular vote. She is optimistic over the final outcome of the fight she intends to make.

DARROW GOES ON THE STAND

CONTRADICTS TESTIMONY OF GEORGE BEHM AND BERT FRANKLIN.

JUROR LET GO AS ILL

Accused Attorney Tells of Reluctance in Accepting the McNamara Case.

By The Associated Press.
Los Angeles, July 29.—Clarence S. Darrow, on trial for alleged jury bribery, took the witness stand in his own behalf today well toward the close of the session, which began with the discharge of Juror L. A. Leavitt because of illness and the substitution of Alternate Juror A. B. Blakesley.

The brief time he was on the stand Darrow contradicted testimony by George Behm and Bert Franklin, which had been considered damaging to his case. The long anticipated appearance of the defendant as a witness came after the second futile effort by the defense to get possession of the grand jury testimony of R. A. Treimoe, the San Francisco labor leader, and a successful effort to get documentary evidence now held by the district attorney.

Mr. Darrow gave his age as 56 next April and said he had been practicing law for 36 years. He gave a brief history of his various important employments and a brief account of his record as a representative of organized labor, detailing the numerous cases in which he acted as an arbitrator, in many of which he said labor disputes were referred solely to him by both sides of the controversy.

Darrow then told of his reluctance in accepting the McNamara case and the influence brought to bear upon him by labor leaders to defend the brothers. He narrated in chronological order his preparations for defending them.

Arnold, special assistant United States attorney general, who was in charge of the investigation, include the payment of $100,000 by the W. J. McCahan Sugar Refining company and $124,386.29 by the Franklin Sugar Refining company, in settlement of the claims, both against itself and the Spreckels Sugar Refining company, the two companies having been operated virtually as one under the control of the so-called trust.

Special to The Morning News.

Pittsburg, July 28.—William J. Winkelman, aged 45, set fire to his home, in which slept his wife and family, early today and escaped from the police who caught him in the act. Three hours later his dead body was found hanging from a tree. Winkelman is said to have been despondent over the loss of his employment.

PROVIDENT DRUG COMPANY

SON TELLS ABOUT MOTHER'S TROUBLE

John Davis, Pressman, Relates Remarkable Story Involving the Use of Plant.

Mr. John Davis, pressman for the Cargill Printing company in Houston, and who lives at 2418 Sabine street, that city, related the following to a Plant Juice man: "I was born in Houston and we have lived here for thirty-five years. My mother has suffered from rheumatism for years, she had it so bad she could hardly walk and would have to sit partly propped up in a chair. Many times I have seen her cry from the awful pain. I just tried everything we could think of but nothing seemed to help her. We read about the cures Plant Juice was making and got a bottle to try it. It has taken out all the pain, and swelling and mother can come into town. She sleeps well and eats heartily. A treatment that will do that is surely worthy of an endorsement. It does all you say it will. I came in here purposely to tell you this."

Uric acid poison is a dangerous poison. It ruins the nerves and undermines the whole system. Plant Juice is the best known uric acid solvent and therein lies the beneficial results that is found by sufferers from rheumatism. For all derangements of the liver, kidneys and stomach Plant Juice is without a peer. For sale at Old Corner Drug Store.

LONDON MAIL CALLS WILSON 'NEW HOPE'

Special to The Morning News.

Los Angeles, July 29.—That Woodrow Wilson is "by far the strongest man that his party could have put forward" for president, and that he is the "inspiration of a new hope for American politics," is the opinion of the London Daily Mail, expressed in its issue of July 4 in a sketch of Governor Wilson's career and a study of his character.

A copy of the Mail was received in Atlanta Wednesday from Joseph F. Gatins, Jr., and Arthur Clarke, two Atlantans who were in Paris when they read the English paper's appreciation of Mr. Wilson soon after the cable brought them the welcome news of Mr. Wilson's nomination at Baltimore.

Says the Mail, in part: "Mr. Woodrow Wilson has made for himself a quicker and more brilliant name, and by quieter means, than any American of our day and generation. He stands out today by far the strongest man that his party could have put forward."

"Indeed, to read Mr. Wilson's speeches, to study his acts, and to talk with the man himself is to be filled with a new hope for American politics. It is not often they attract the best type of men; they have never attracted a man of Mr. Wilson's type before. He is a phenomenon new to American experience. He belongs, in fact, much more to the class of public men we are accustomed to in England than to the class that has hitherto pretty well dominated American affairs. He is nearer to Lord Morley, Mr. Balfour and Mr. Bryce, to Walter Bagehot and the late Professor Butler."

"That is to say, he is primarily a scholar, a student, a writer, a political philosopher, a vigorous, illuminating, and untrammeled critic and observer of governments and institutions, rather than what Americans, with unconscious irony, are pleased to call a 'practical statesman.'"

"One gets in talking with Mr. Wilson that sense which politicians in America are all too rarely able to impart—the sense of a solid, mellow background of reading, culture and philosophy. His politics of ideas and measures, not of personalities and committee-rooms."

WAR BETWEEN TURKEY AND ITALY SPREADS TO THIS SIDE

Special to The Morning News.

Los Angeles, July 28.—The war between Turkey and Italy, although removed thousands of miles, is causing serious trouble in the county hospital. The international complications there are acute—so much so that battles are being fought daily under the Italian and Turkish flags.

Nicholas Campanali is an Italian and thoroughly patriotic. Morris Frisco is a Turk, and aggressively so. These two have adjoining cots in the county hospital. At the head of each cot there are flags—presents from friends. The colors are those of Italy and Turkey, and they almost touch.

Never have these flags been lowered, but they have come dangerously near it as a result of numerous "heavy engagements."

The hostilities usually open after the first round of the nurse in the morning.

"I see by the paper that Italy has won another fight," or "Turkey is winning Italy," from some near-by cot. "Will start the day's battle."

At first the bombs and shot are only verbal, but as the engagement grows more heated the two "armies" go to the hospital grounds, where water buckets, mop handles and other "ammunition" are used. When the fight reaches its height a Japanese janitor invariably acts as peacemaker, and many a sorry while he has received on the back while trying to enforce an armistice between the two "forces."

NATIONAL BANKS NOT IN ON MONEY TRUST PROBE

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 29.—By a vote of 6 to 7, the senate finance committee agreed to report adversely the Pao resolution, which would especially empower the house "money trust" committee to investigate national banks. Chairman Pao holds the committee has general power to do so, and will proceed on that theory.

TAFT AND HOUSE MAY CLASH ON POWER SUITS

ADMINISTRATION SEEKS TO MAKE THOSE DEVELOPING POWER DIVY UP PROFITS.

Washington, July 29.—The administration is lining up for a fight in congress in defense of its policy of the conservation of water power and in this instance President Taft has behind him such men as Gifford Pinchot and other conservation leaders.

Secretary of War Stimson developed the issue when he upset the old policy of the war department by formally approving without reference to commercial and other conditions, the bills annually passed by congress for the erection of dams and the utilization of water power in streams under the control of the national government.

The secretary instructed the army engineers to report in every case whether the project had any commercial value at present; whether that value was likely to enhance in the future; whether the particular stream was likely to be improved at the public expense, and other such data. He wanted this to enable him to say whether the projectors of the various enterprises should be called upon to share their profits with the people in case they proved unprofitable or whether some of the profits derived from the water power should not be applied to the improvement of the navigation stream at other points, thus relieving the general tax payers.

Immediately protests came from congressmen who are furthering bills for the development of water power. The secretary, backed by President Taft, served a ultimatum on these senators and representatives that no water power bill would be approved by the war department unless in each bill a clause is inserted, looking to the division of the profits with the national government.

Today word from the capitol came to the war department that a combination had been effected by the congressmen, who believed that the capitalists who were willing to undertake the risk of developing the water power were entitled to all the reward realized from their speculation, and that an effort is to be made to bring up all these measures in an omnibus bill already favorably reported and put it through the house. This notice has caused the administration to rally its forces for a big fight on the floor.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS TO DISPUTE CONVENTION

By The Associated Press.

Lincoln, Neb., July 29.—Two hundred and forty seats in the republican state convention here tomorrow are in dispute between the Taft and Roosevelt factions. Roosevelt followers could control the convention by getting one-third of them, but the Taft forces must have nearly the whole number to win. In nearly every case the question is whether opponents of Taft have a right to sit in a republican convention.

peror's death. Deep emotion swept the multitude, but there was no evidence of excitement. The only sound was a long-drawn sigh of sorrow.

Accession Ceremony Begins.

Within the palace the death was communicated to the waiting imperial princes and nobles, whereupon, without delay, the accession ceremonies were begun at the imperial sanctuary at 1 o'clock. The shrine was decorated according to the Shinto rites. Prince Iwakura, the chief ritualist, officiated, laying the offering on the sacred altar. He was assisted by a subordinate, who rang a bell while offerings were being placed. The oath was read in the presence of the ministers of state, the counselors and other dignitaries.

Led Way to New Era.

Mutsuhito, unassuming by nature, yet possessed of iron nerve, accomplished great reforms. Beloved, yet feared by his people, he led them from their ancient ways into a new era. He was born in Kyoto in 1852 and ascended the throne in 1867, becoming the 121st emperor of Japan.

Two years after his reign began Mutsuhito established a deliberate assembly. After crushing three internal rebellions and punishing the Formosa pirates, the emperor turned his attention to expanding Japan's foreign relations. In 1894 he obtained a revision of the treaties of other nations. Then came the war against China.

Mutsuhito was the leading spirit in preparation for this conflict. Mutsuhito was the first Oriental ruler to form an offensive and defensive alliance with a first-rate power of Europe.

TAFT EXPRESSES SORROW.

President Eulogizes Emperor as True Leader of His People.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 29.—Upon learning of the death of the emperor of Japan, President Taft dictated the following statement:

"I am greatly shocked at the death of the emperor of Japan. It has been my good fortune to have met the emperor as many as half a dozen times and to have come into such relations with him as his guest to feel that there was a personal friendship between us."

"The emperor was a remarkable man. He was brought to actual power through the Shogun rebellion, and his life was measured by the wonderful growth and expansion of the Japanese empire under his rule."

CONDEMNED WALL BRACED; BUILDING WORK PROCEEDS

By securely bracing the walls of the Gay-Sturgis building, the work on the new Amicable annex was resumed on Monday morning. A dozen big shafts were wedged in between the condemned wall and the Amicable walls and the excavation was permitted to continue. The contractors say the Gay-Sturgis wall is in no danger of falling now. However, they are carrying liability insurance on the workmen. The walls of the new structure will be built right up even with the props before the braces are removed.

CELEBRITIES LOVE DOGS; SOME PERPETUATED IN STONE

When great minds who are engrossed with world affairs or absorbed with imaginary worlds can find the time to love and care for the pet dog, does it not argue some corresponding greatness in the soul of the dog? At least, there is the sympathetic tie of love between the higher and the lower animal. This thought is forced after reading the Standard lecture on Scotland. In speaking of that great man, Sir Walter Scott, the "Wizard of the North," the lecturer says, in describing the memorial erected by the people in Edinburgh, "In the center under this elaborate canopy is a marble statue of Sir Walter himself, attended by his favorite dog. It is appropriate both in sculpture and painting that Scott should be represented with a dog as his companion. Never was a man fonder of dogs than he. When he was a sojourner as an invalid in Naples he wrote repeatedly to his steward at Abbotsford, 'Be careful of the poor people and the dogs. On my return his meeting with his old favorites was quite touching. When the last sad days arrived his dogs came around his chair and mutely licked the hands of their dying master, who said farewell to them in mingled smiles and tears.'

Nor is Sir Walter Scott the only one of the great men of the world, the statue of the late Queen Victoria, with her favorite collie by her side. She loved her dogs and never took an outing in the castle grounds without them frolicking about her little donkey cart.

If the queen of a mighty nation and one of the greatest thinking minds of literature can find time for the faithful dog, is this not a life lesson for humanity?

GIRLS SELECTING SCHOOLS; FIRST OF AUGUST HERE

With the first of August, the summer tide takes a receding turn. It has been the homecoming and the preparation for summer gayety. When the first of August arrives there begins amid the summer rest the talk and the thought of another year at school. This is beginning here, but so far little definite is known concerning the college set. Miss Beuna Clinton positively returns to the State University. Miss Mary Shelton does not return to Saint Mary's, Dallas, and enrolls in Baylor University. Miss Elizabeth Patton and Lucile Hill remain in Texas, at Swisherland. Miss Anne Fisher engages her room for a second year at the State University. Miss Frances Hodge returns East for another year. Miss Lalla Fay Lacy enters Guston Hall, Washington City. There are many others who are arranging for the winter, but these are the advance guard with formulated plans.

BITS OF PERSONAL TALK ABOUT THE MISSES WILSON

If the Democrats send their candidate to the White House, bachelor stock will take a rise. There are three young ladies in the Wilson family, all fond of dancing, music, athletics, which, of course, means baseball, and are well read. The eldest is not thirty by several years. The second was strongly inclined to become a missionary, but was persuaded to exchange this for settlement work in Philadelphia. They bear the names of Margaret, Jennie and Nell, and will doubtless soon have namesakes galore. The eldest is purely Southern, having been born in Gainesville, Ga. It is said that no sooner was the Democratic ticket announced than invitations to house parties, for yachting trips and such fairly poured in upon them suddenly interesting girls. Bachelors will buzz about the White House if the Wilson trio are there domiciled.

WARBURTON PARK POPULAR AS NEIGHBORHOOD RESORT

In having the gatherings after supper in the Warburton park, the women of this neighborhood are seeking to accomplish a dual purpose. They wish to raise a fund with which to add even more to the beauty of the park, and they desire to popularize the park as a neighborhood center. These neighborhood gatherings are a delight during the hot summers, and this little spot is the ideal breathing place for a neighborhood. This common interest promoted, these ardent possessors, and park pride will be fostered. The Warburton is a memorial to the women of this neighborhood, and they seem untiring in their effort to make it a true beauty spot.

MRS. MALE HAS BRIDGE FOR MISS FULLER, HOUSTON

The first pleasantry of the week was in the form of a game of bridge out at the Huaco club, with Mrs. J. W. Hale hostess. In this she complimented a visitor from Houston, Miss Mary Fuller, and afforded a delightful morning for the few from among her acquaintances of young girls whom she invited. The game soon resulted in a lot of growing fern for Miss Janet Gorman and a deck of fancy cards to Miss Enrique Smith. The refreshment feature found a salad plate, with other summer dainties. Following the more formal feature there was bowling and the other pleasures of the club. Mrs. Hale's courtesy was enjoyed by:

Misses Fuller, Alice Lee Boynton, Nancy Lacy, Stella Lacy, Maydee Caulfield, Anne Risher, Enrique Smith, Eleanor Blair, Mattie Jones, Frances Boddie, Charabel Knight, Janet Gorman.

MORE OLD BOOKS NOTED; WACO WELL SUPPLIED

One thing suggests another. When one speaks of her time-worn book, another at once bethinks of hers, and thus some very interesting notes are unearthed. Mentioning the volumes of Mrs. Jennie Holmes and Mrs. J. F. Allison reminded Mrs. Mary Jackson Austin of some rare treasures from the library of her father, the late George W. Jackson. These Mrs. Austin preserves very carefully. Several have seen more than three centuries. One would have been a rare object of interest during the past year when the tercentenary of the King James Bible was celebrated. This book has been in the Jackson family too long for memory. It was published in honor of the original King James Bible and gives the history of Bible publication. The fund was contributed by the famous families of England, each having his coat of arms in advance of the special edition honored. Tradition says that only three of these books exist. Mrs. Austin also has a copy of the first edition of Addison's Spectator, that journal which made comment upon people and things at such an early day, and which received contributions from the literary men of the day, as well as the scathing denunciation of those whose fathers, so to speak, had been scorched. Since one note develops another, each of interest, why not the Wacoans have an exhibition of their rare books as they do in England?

CLUBS UNDER OBLIGATION TO MRS. PENNYBACKER

Now that the Texas women have been a unit in their furtherance of Mrs. Pennybacker as president of the General Federation, their duty is not done. As the late Admiral Schley said in his Waco speech, that efficient as a General could be, he was powerless unless the men behind the guns did their part. The club women have now brought the General Federation administration within their borders. This they should not have done, had they not felt that this stood for something ennobling to the state, and that it was worth while. Mrs. Pennybacker is now president. Will it strengthen her in the eyes of the outside world if her home clubs do not join the organization at whose head they have placed one of their women? Not much. Therefore, the Texas clubs, Waco above all, should at the first meeting in the fall rally to the General Federation work by making application for membership. In this they are saying that they are supporting the work at the head of which America has placed a woman. The Women's club and the Press club are the only two Waco clubs who are affiliated with the General Federation.

THE WOMEN GIVE PRAISE TO POLICEMAN CARLISLE

In the wake of the awful death of the Sevier boy, there has come to the knowledge of the women something which they feel should be made public. This is the modest, truly sympathetic manner in which Policeman Carlisle ministered what little he could to the dying boy. Unknown to others, Mr. Carlisle went to that abandoned hut as soon as he heard of the situation within. He washed the face, took the food, and did what a kind-hearted man would for the heart-rending situation. But it was too late. Death was at hand. The details can not now be told. But there can be no more from the women of this city the word of appreciation for the kind-hearted man to whom the case appealed and who responded to the call of human suffering.

It seems quite exciting for the hottest day of the season to chronicle two social affairs out at the Huaco club. These were the morning bridge of Mrs. J. W. Hale and the evening dance of Miss Ella Fiewelly.

The weekly dance at the Country club is scheduled for tonight.

When we read that one poem which made the eternal fame of the poet Gray, we are too prone to think of it as a momentary inspiration. To tell the truth, Gray was seven years in bringing his verses to the perfection which his elegy now claims.

A private letter tells of a baby girl of 13 months, whose parents are stationed at one of the Alaska forts. The little one is the pet of the garrison, friendly to everyone and to everything, and a woman's hat. Of this she is deathly afraid, for it is an unknown thing in her existence. The father is now transferred to the beautiful Presidio at San Francisco. What an experience the baby will have there in making her acquaintance with fashionable woman's head paraphernalia!

A new theater in Paris has adopted the plan of checking the patrons' coat with the number of the patron's seat. This avoids untold confusion and if the women would be persistent perhaps the plan would carry here.

The Colorado tourists are in their element this season. Everything is to be green and then some more green. How these tourists will revel in their purchase of jade from the Rocky mountains.

Mrs. C. W. White with Miss Madeline White, is just returned from a sojourn at Mineral Wells. They speak of quite pleasant companions. From all parts of Texas, among whom was Mrs. Bertha Jones Sparks of Austin, who spent her girlhood days in this city, with her aunt, Mrs. Charles T. Alexander.

Dame Fashion thinks it would look well for us to have our evening gowns at very low this season, but to veil her neck with a flesh-colored illusion and carry this to a high throatstock. Dame Fashion will surely catch the fancy of the women in this.

Messames Robert Downman and Sade McDonald are at Magnolia Beach, Miss., at least they were until the illness of Alice McDonald at Asheville took Mrs. McDonald there at once. Among the sojourners on the same corridor, Mrs. Downman has no less a celebrity than Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan.

There were hundreds to enjoy the rendition of the duet from "Norman" by Alessandro's band Sunday afternoon. Bellini, the composer, is known as the "king of melody." This souvenir was given him by no less a judge than Mascagni, who is placing a wreath on Bellini's tomb, had it labeled, "the king of melody."

Miss Sallie C. Gee's birthday party this afternoon is the exciting event for fifty little invited guests. They assemble on the James Baker lawn at 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. William Waldo Cameron are having guests out at Valley View Farm tonight—not a large company, however.

Society Personals.

Misses Marguerite and Ruth Blair are guests of their sister, Mrs. Robert Allen, in Hearne.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rowell left on Sunday for an overland trip to visit Mr. Rowell's relatives in Jefferson.

Mrs. Bruton and Miss Bruton of Comanche, present guests of Mrs. J. W. Orand, are in Wooten Wells for a few days.

Miss Nina Greenway from Whitney is the expected guest of Mrs. J. W. Orand, on Columbus street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Edmond, with Leslie Gardner and Miss Nettie May Wilkes, were week-end visitors to Temple by automobile.

Mrs. Bland Brown, Miss Maud Brown, Douglas Brown and Master William Brown, of North Fifteenth came in from the Gamill country home on Monday.

SUITABLE BOXES FOR MAIL IS NEW ORDER

TWO ADDITIONAL CARRIERS ARE RECOMMENDED BY INSPECTORS FOR WACO.

Postmaster Hoffman will notify all the patrons of the Waco postoffice who have not done so, that they must provide a suitable box in which the carrier is to deposit the mail. The government allows an office carrier to a certain number in proportion to the population of the city. Just now Waco has seventeen carriers on a census of 26,000 population. It is a fact that Waco has more population than the figures shown by the census of 1910, and both Inspector R. R. Burr and Inspector James W. Bass have recommended to the department that this postoffice be allowed two additional carriers.

While the effort is being made to get two more carriers, Postmaster Hoffman is urging the patrons to put in facilities at every door to receive the mail and not delay the carrier. Mr. Hoffmann has sent some of the patrons the following notice:

"By direction of the postoffice department, the attention of patrons of this office is invited to the advantage of providing facilities for the receipt of their mail by erecting conveniently accessible boxes or cutting suitable slots in their doors. Such action would enable the postmaster to give a prompt and better delivery service with the means at his disposal, since the carriers can cover much more territory in less time if not compelled to wait for an answer to their ring. Private receptacles for mail are also a great convenience to the householder, obviating the necessity of responding to the carrier's call at inconvenient moments and permitting the safe delivery of mail in the absence of members of the household. They also prevent the occasional necessity of a carrier's proceeding on his route without delivering mail because of failure to answer his ring within a reasonable time, and enable him to make deliveries to patrons living on or near the end of the route at an earlier hour."

It has been shown by actual experience that the benefits derived by patrons of city delivery from the use of such receptacles far outweigh the small expense involved. As this office is interested in furnishing the best possible service at the least expense, your compliance with the foregoing suggestion will be much appreciated."

LUMBER RAIL RATE RAISE SUSPENDED

Interstate Commerce Commission Nullifies Increase Order of the Carriers.

Washington, July 29.—Notable advance in the freight rates on lumber proposed by southern, southwestern and western railroads, today were suspended by the interstate commerce commission from Aug. 1 to Nov. 29. The suspension affects practically all the roads in the United States.

The tariffs suspended would increase the rate on yellow pine and cypress lumber from 25 to 26½ cent a hundred pounds, and on other kind of lumber from 25 to 26 cents from points in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and Oklahoma to many destinations, particularly those in the middle west.

Efforts have been made by the same lines for several years to obtain the commission's approval of any advance in the southern lumber rates, but they uniformly have been unsuccessful.

CHASE DIVORCE SETTLED.

New York, July 29.—Attorneys for Hal Chase, first baseman of the New York American league club, and for his wife, who is being sued for a divorce, appeared in supreme court today and announced that they wished to withdraw two motions, one being for alimony of $300 a month and the other asking that certain allegations made in Chase's complaint be stricken out. Both were withdrawn. This indicates the case has been settled.

PIONEER GAMBLER DEAD.

Chicago, July 29.—Frank Cailion, who figured in early Mississippi river history, and who made a fortune at faro and then lost it on the races, was buried here today. He was cabin boy on the steamboat Pennsylvania, which blew up at Island No. 10, above Memphis, in 1864, resulting in the death of 200 persons, among them the brother of "Mark Twain," Henry Clemens.

SAY THIS NATION CAN REGULATE CANAL

Purchase of Zone Removes the Entire Subject From International Control, According to Senators.

By The Associated Press.

The right of Great Britain to participate in an understanding for control of the Panama canal was denied in the senate today by two advocates of the measure to give American coastwise shipping preference in canal tolls. Senators Bradley of Kentucky and Massey of Nevada contended that not only the United States had the right under the treaty to regulate its own affairs, but that the purchase of the canal zone removed the entire subject from international control. Senator McCumber of North Dakota took in opposite view in his speech opening the canal debate.

Senator Massey declared the Hay-Zamcote treaty of 1901 could be ignored by the United States so far as the Panama canal is concerned. The operation of that waterway had become a domestic problem, he said.

Senator Bradley held even under the treaty the United States simply made the rules of equality which were to apply to all other nations. As he made of these rules and the nation at whose expense the canal had been built, he declared the United States was not bound by the regulations of the treaty so far as it requires "equal treatment" to all ships.

WILL BEGIN WAR ON RATS IN GULF STATES

Health Authorities Plan Vigorous Campaign Against Plague Carriers.

By The Associated Press.

New Orleans, La., July 29.—Plans for enforcing strict quarantine regulations against the districts in Cuba and Porto Rico which are infected with bubonic plague, were considered today at a conference between health officials of several southern states and officers of the United States marine hospital service.

The discovery of the bubonic bacilli in a rat in New Orleans, said Dr. J. H. White of the Marine hospital service, showed the necessity of inaugurating a vigorous rat extermination campaign in every port along the gulf.

He said every rat in this and other cities must be destroyed with as little delay as possible and regulations regarding the fumigation of ships from the infected districts must be strictly reinforced.

Physicians attending from other states were Dr. W. F. Brunko, Savannah; Dr. C. A. Mohr, Mobile; Dr. W. W. Smithson and Dr. W. S. Leathers, Mississippi board of health; Dr. W. H. Rowan, Jackson, Miss.; Dr. C. A. Shelley, Gulfport, Miss.; Dr. Thomas Hunter, Biloxi, Miss.; and Dr. C. W. Truhart and Dr. J. H. McGlosson of Galveston.

MISSIONARIES CONFER WITH STATE SECRETARY

DISCUSS QUESTION OF ARRESTS OF CHRISTIANS IN KOREA WITH KNOX.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 29.—Five representatives of Protestant foreign-mission boards had conferences here today with government officials regarding the status of American missionaries in Korea and the condition of Christians in that country. Bishop Candler of Georgia, and the Rev. Dr. Cook of Nashville represented the Methodist church South.

The delegation called first upon Viscount China, the Japanese ambassador, and then saw the secretary of state.

Mr. Knox summarized the conference, which lasted an hour and a half, as follows:

"The representatives of the missionary boards of the Presbyterian church and the Methodist Episcopal church, North and South, called upon me this morning to express the deep interest and concern about the Korean Christians under arrest in Korea, charged with conspiracy against the life of the governor general."

"Their call was partly one of courtesy and also to inform the department that despite reports to the contrary they had no complaint to make arising out of the Korean situation for diplomatic action upon the part of this government."

"They said, however, that they would be glad to have the department advise them as to what they should do in the interest of their Korean friends involved in this trouble, to which I replied that they had been pursuing the right course, in my judgment, by manifesting their solicitude for their friends in the Japanese government through

PUBLISHERS' NOTICE.
The News has been fortunate in securing Fuller, Henriquez & Putnam of Chicago and New York as its foreign advertising representatives. This firm is composed of advertising men who rank among the foremost in the country, who have the confidence of the largest and most general advertisers in the United States. This connection means that the interests of the News will be met for and vigorously advanced, and the western and eastern advertisers. It means also that the big advertisers of the country will have a medium through which the people of Waco and Central Texas may be reached by a morning newspaper.
The News takes pleasure in announcing this strong agency of New York and Chicago as its representatives in the foreign field.

BUT ENFORCING AN OLD RULE.

Jumping at once to the conclusion that the postmaster-general has declared a new system, and that it is to regulate the morals of the country that he has done so, the Dallas-Galveston News makes a strong argument endorsing the issuance of the order that persons desiring to use the general delivery window shall be required to file written reasons therefor. The truth of the matter is that it has always been a regulation of the postoffice department that where free delivery of mail is provided by the government that the postmaster shall discourage the use of the general delivery window. The postmaster general has only issued instructions regarding a rule that has been on the books a long period of time, and what he is doing is in the nature of economy of time and economy of space in the postoffice.

Commenting on the recent action of the postmaster-general, the Dallas-Galveston News says:

There is probably no postoffice of consequence in the United States where flagrant examples of abuse of the general delivery privilege have not been more or less common. Not to call a spade anything else, those familiar with the general delivery system know that the old newspaper advertisement, suppressed by the respectable newspapers for several reasons, was a mere nothing by comparison with the general delivery letter system whereby men and women can, and do, communicate freely with each other under the protection of Uncle Sam's well-known policy of considering letters sacred, and for the hand alone of the addressee. Thus, to continue calling a spade a spade, married men have corresponded freely with young girls; married women have used the general delivery to receive questionable letters their husbands might find at home by accident, and, what is infinitely worse, however shady these things are, practice of receiving mail at these general delivery windows, their parents being in blissful ignorance of the fact. In some cases their correspondence, though irregular, may have been innocent of evil. In some cases girls have clandestinely corresponded with school boys where their parents have refused permission. In other cases, as postmasters have stated, there has been reason to believe that young girls have corresponded with men of doubtful morals and of unsafe character, often little girls weighed down with school books, calling boldly for mail at the open window.

Probably the condition described by the News is correct for Dallas and Galveston, and we do not know whether the News speaks for the one place or the other, but such a condition does not exist in Waco, and we do not believe it exists in a majority of places in the country. The general delivery department of the postoffice is for the convenience of the transient people, and if it is confined to that patronage, there will be fewer hours of work necessary and less space needed. The free delivery system is provided in all towns of any size, and there is no reason why mail should not be delivered at the home. The Morning News does not believe that clandestine correspondence takes up so much time of the general delivery service and it does not believe that school girls are engaged in the character of correspondence that the Dallas-Galveston News would suggest. The statement in the News is a serious indictment against good women and good girls. It is wrong to suppose such things and it is wrong to charge them against all towns. If clandestine correspondence is general in Dallas and Galveston, as the comment in the News would lead us to believe, then the thing is to clean up at home. Waco is not so affected and we do not think other towns are.

A WORD ABOUT BRIBING.

The Dallas News does not approve of the Burns method of catching the bribe-takers, and the Morning News is much of the same opinion. As long as Burns confines his operations to finding out what the bribe-takers and bribe-givers are doing, through the medium of the dictograph or any other spy method, all well and good, if a fellow wants to be a spy, but when the detective sets out to catch the bribe-taker by offering the bribe, inspiring the bribe, creating the bribe, originating the plan for the bribe, etc., it appears that maybe bribe-takers would not be so numerous if there were not bribe-givers so flush with funds. In the Lord's prayer we beseech the Throne "Lead us not into temptation." We make this supplication because we all realize that the strongest of us are weak, and there are many of us who sooner or later may find that the other fellow has found our price. There are some men who will be as firm as was the Savior when Satan took him upon the mountain and offered all of the universe if he would fall down before him, but there are others so weak that they yield to the temptation. The story is told of a certain alderman in a certain Texas town who represented an outlying ward, who went to another alderman representing an outlying ward and suggested that the business district aldermen were getting all the street improvements in their sections. Unguardedly he made the remark, "Let's combine and see we cannot get something for ourselves," meaning that he wanted his own part of town improved, and he believed that a combination would get it. The man approached did not understand, and quickly answered, "That's what I think. You know, I haven't got even a suit of clothes since I have been in the council." There are men who will stay honest as long as they are not approached, but they fall for the inducement the first mention that is made of easy money. The Burns man who goes out with the money and the proposition to bribe some one, is as guilty as any other briber or money giver and the best thing to do is to stop that kind of system.

ABOUT MISS HELEN GOULD.

After devoting much of the income of her large fortune to the benefit of humanity, distributing gifts where they will do good, and creating funds for Young Men's Christian association buildings for men who are employed in railroad work, Miss Helen Gould is taken to task by the Rev. Elmer V. Huffner of Grand Junction, Colo., because she does not marry, and he appears to have taken an especial dislike to the "old maids," as he seeks to designate them.

Just why this minister should single out the unmarried women who are advanced in years for the fling of his criticism is hard to understand, but certain it is that he is making his attack upon a class of women who are devoting their time to making better places about them and the people who occupy them. Florence Nightingale lived a single life, but she lived it for humanity; Clara Barton devoted her life to building the great Red Cross organization; Jane Addams is giving her time and her earnings to a relief of intolerable conditions among the poorer classes, and Miss Helen Gould has devoted years to the betterment of the lives of men and women who come within the sphere of her benefactions. The Rev. Huffner says of Miss Gould:

"No woman has done her duty to the world until she has borne children. Miss Gould is in a peculiar position because of her riches. She can not be sure she is being wooed for love alone. The only way to solve this problem is for Miss Gould to accept a position in the backwoods incognito. Here she might find the right one, a fightous, industrious man who would love her for her true self and not her wealth."

"Her riches have handicapped her in the real enjoyment of life, and I dare say she is not as happy in her private car with her maids as is my servant girl."

"If Miss Gould wants two weeks of real enjoyment, two weeks of real happiness, let her disguise herself as a waitress and seek work in a cheap restaurant, let her clerk in a store or work as a chambermaid—anything so long as she earns her own living and lives on less than $10 a week."

This is real rot. It is balderdash. It is impertinence. It is not true. Miss Gould has found pleasure in life because she enjoys helping others; she has not been handicapped by her riches, because she has done good with her money as fast as she has found worthy charity upon which to bestow gifts and assistance. The statement that no woman has done her duty until she has borne children is not borne out by the experience of many women, who though married, are childless, and many others who unmarried, have done good in this world by helping those who need their help. The Rev. Mr. Huffner is simply seeking cheap notoriety by his attack upon a person whose home life he knows nothing about; whose pleasures he cannot appreciate, and whose good deeds he fails to consider in forming his estimate.

The suggestion that Mr. Bryan be put on the trail of the Bull Moose appears to have met with a unanimous endorsement. In methods and manners they are pretty much alike, and if Mr. Bryan is kept busy trailing the trouble-maker of the Republicans, he himself won't have a chance to be a trouble-maker for the Democrats.

Last week there was a man standing every few feet on every thoroughfare, handing out a card, and each card was on a different subject. Suppose we all fall in line and hand out cards on the same subject awhile—the Cotton Palace would be a good thing to electioneer for.

All the headlines read "Colquitt and Sheppard," or "Sheppard and Colquitt," and if the truth was known, neither one appreciates the company he is in, anxious as each is to be leading in the returns.

EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

Waco, July 29, 1912.
Editor Waco Morning News.
Pardon me if intruding on space, but I am going to ask you to write a stinging editorial on speed mania, which seems to have taken such a firm hold on our autoists. I have written the mayor and commissioners twice on the subject and I presume they are doing all they can, but autos still chase up and down North and South Fifth street at not less than 30 miles an hour, and I think the city ordinance calls for not to exceed 10 miles an hour in city.

In the fall of 1908 I was living in Oklahoma City, when nearly every auto was running at breakneck speed. One bright, pretty Sunday morning a little boy and girl, age three and four, were on their way to Sunday school. The dear little tots were crossing the street when along came a dashing auto and crushed out instantly the little lives so full of hope for a bright future. Then, and not till then, did the officials wake up. There were thirty or forty arrests in the next few days. Are we going to sit idly by and wait for something terrible to happen? Roy Lane's suggestion at the Waco Auto club meeting for the city ordinance to be painted and placed in prominent parts of the city, is a good one. I have stopped several children from being run over on South 5th, and it's worse on North 5th.

Let's have a little publicity in this matter so that people will awaken and realize that citizens all have a right to our public streets.

Don't let it be like the ignorant farmer that closed his gate after the hogs were all gone.

Let us take precaution now and have regard for the lives of others before we have such a terrible lesson as Oklahoma City.

Fines would easily pay for boards giving warning.

SENT FURNITURE THROUGH THE MAIL

UNITED STATES SENATOR PLAYS A COSTLY JOKE ON THE GOVERNMENT.

Even Cats and Dogs Were Franked by Members of Congress.

The ecstasy of having a railroad pass is known to perhaps one man out of 5000—or was before the passage of the 1908 railroad rate law. But the joy of having one of Uncle Sam's postal passes—the franking privilege—is something that but one in 200,000 can possess.

So old that its history runs back into the dim ages when kings and queens bestowed favors as liberally as the bride's brother hands out the rice at a wedding, the franking privilege has always seemed to the popular mind as a most delightful perquisite of the man who can get to congress or into the senate, says the New York Times.

Naturally the privilege partakes of a personal means of enjoyment and power. The senator and representative while they have the franking privilege send all their private correspondence under the frank. To them the mails are free, and they do not have to bother to put on the small red, green and blue stickers that cost the average citizen good hard cash to buy.

In days gone by there was an interpretation of the enjoyment of the franking privilege that made it greatly more a personal privilege than it could possibly be regarded nowadays.

It was only a few years ago that the postoffice department made the startling ruling that thereafter typewriters—that is the machine, not the ones who preside over them—should no longer go through the mails under a frank.

In the old days trunks of congressmen and their wives went home by mail. Men famous in the history of the country, some who aspired to be president, some who decided the destiny of the country, did this and never thought for a moment that there was anything wrong about it. Congressional laundry sent in the mails as free as the water that eventually cleansed it. Dictionaries, libraries, furniture, even pet dogs and cats, went by mail free for statesmen.

It is still very fresh in the memory of those who knew of the fact that not so many years ago a certain Eastern senator, still living, and a rank outsider at this time, famous as a wit and a prime after dinner speaker, as a joke when a young Washington correspondent got married, franked a carload of furniture for the bride from Albany to Washington.

And even now there is a very common use of the privilege that borders on the generous bestowal of the privilege on friends of public men. The frank is nowadays simply the name of the man who is entitled to it by virtue of his election to the office of representative or senator in congress, and his name is either printed on his envelopes or stamped on his document mail with a rubber stamp.

These rubber stamps are easily made and it is a common usage for some member to see that a friend who wants one is supplied. Of course, this frank is used only on mail matter that may properly be sent as franked, but it is always a decidedly great convenience to all concerned. The postoffice regulations contemplate no such use of the frank.

The nearest approach to it is a rule by which the senator or member may send documents in bulk to a distant point where a designated agent may break the package and then apply the rubber stamp to send the separate documents to such constituents as it may be desired to reach.

In the old times the franking privilege was one conferred by law, just as it is now, but it was held in more esteem and dignity probably. The man who had it always with his own hand signed his name to the piece of mail matter. Now the public man who ever signs his name is a curiosity. In fact, no one does actually sign his name for the purpose of having his letter or package go free through the mails.

But there are many men living who remember when they received letters that actually bore the autograph of the public man who sent them. There are doubtless men who will remember, for instance, receiving letters from Roscoe Conkling.

Conkling was a fine penman—one of the big commanding "fists" like John Hancock's. But always on his letter he wrote his name reversed. And he did it well and it did it himself for many years. Then he got a capital fellow named Griffiths from Remsen who was his private secretary for a long time and he practiced up on that reversed signature until he could do it as well as his master. When you held the envelope of the Conkling letter up to a looking glass you could read the name and found it to be as handsomely written as it ever was directly.

Private secretaries now practice writing the signature of the public man to whom they are attached, and they keep at it until they can boast that you cannot tell the imitation from the genuine. But this is not for the mail frank. It is to fool the constituent who when he gets a letter from the big man who represents him, or, otherwise, in Washington, feels puffed up at the thought that he is in touch with the statesman.

This includes a very large number of people—all clerks in the departments who have to do with public business, all officers of the army and the navy, all employees of the geologic survey out in the field in all parts of the United States, all employees of the department of agriculture in every sort of service from one end of the country to the other, all postoffice employees in every part of the land—all these have the privilege as an incident to the performance of their work for the government, but never as a matter of personal private privilege.

This is what is called "penalty" mail matter. The law imposes a penalty on the government employee or officer who uses envelopes provided for the free transmission of mail matter for his own private benefit. It is done over and over, beyond doubt, but at the risk of being caught. Honorable men, it is to be said, are extremely careful in all such matters. Many congressmen put stamps on all their documents sent out for campaign purposes, believing that they have no right to use the franking privilege for what may be regarded as a personal benefit.

In addition to these classes of persons congress has conferred the franking privilege on the widows of the presidents of the United States. At this time Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Cleveland have the privilege. The privilege in the case of widows of presidents is slightly different from that of senators and members of congress. Usually it is provided by law that all letters written to the widow of a president of the United States shall pass through the mails free and all letters written by such a widow shall go free. Nothing more is necessary than that the letter shall be addressed to her and that her own letters shall bear her autograph on the outside of the envelope to show that it is her letter.

This arrangement overwhelmed some of the beneficiaries of the privilege, so that when the matter came up in congress the wish was expressed on more than one occasion that only the letters written by the beneficiary should be franked, and not all letters addressed to her.

The vice president of the United States, as well as the president, has the franking privilege. Delegates from territories and the resident commissioners from Porto Rico and the Philippines have it. The secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives have it. All soldiers' homes may send official correspondence under their frank. In the case of congressmen-elect and delegates-elect they may exercise the privilege before they come to Washington and are sworn in.

For the interval after the expiration of their term of office on March 4 until congress again meets the first Monday in December, they may continue to use the frank. All pensioners enjoy the free use of the mails in regard to pension matters, the pension office furnishing penalty envelopes for that purpose. Government officials in writing to any person on official matters are permitted by law to inclose a penalty envelope in which the addressee may mail his reply.

The supreme court does not enjoy the franking privilege in the way that senators and congressmen do. The members of the court use penalty envelopes for all mail matter that may properly be regarded as connected with the business of the court. For their own correspondence the justices buy and use the little two-cent and one-cent postal "bonds" just as the ordinary citizen does.

Postal statistics are not easy to remember. They require a good many figures to express an idea. For instance, the postal service handled in the last full fiscal year 15,111,667,896 pieces of mail, weighing, all told, 1,432,351,383 pounds, and costing for all expenses $229,977,324.

In this matter there were 4,531,089 pounds of mail matter sent under the franks of senators and congressmen at a total cost to the government of $518,385. There was also carried under "penalty" envelopes for the executive departments—the government itself—43,992,374 pounds at a cost of $5,219,661.

The government's free mail matter was 2 1-2 per cent of all the matter carried. The free franked mail matter carried for congressmen and senators was one-quarter of 1 per cent of all carried. Of the 15,000,000,000 pieces of mail matter in all carried by the United States mails the free matter, both "penalty" and franked, amounted to 281,647,268 pieces.

This free matter averaged 2.17 ounces in weight or 5.05 pieces to the pound, and constituted 3.89 per cent of all the matter carried by the mails, this latter figure including registered matter in addition to ordinary mail. The total cost of all free matter was $6,332,656, or 11 cents per pound, or 7 cents for each man, woman and child in the country.

It may be interesting to know just how the cost of carrying free mail matter counts up. The biggest item appears to be for paying railroads for carrying the mail, and this is $3,079,264. The next in size is for salaries of postmasters, clerks, carriers, rentals and miscellaneous expenses, which for all this free matters comes to $1,136,654. The next large item is for rural free delivery service, which is $1,027,220. The rent of railway mail cars is $90,745, railway mail service costs $287,667, and miscellaneous expenses are $117,489.

The mathematicians of the postoffice department have figured out that the loss on every piece of franked matter is 5 3-4 cents to the government. The loss on every "penalty" piece of matter is 2 1-4 cents. The expense per pound of the franked matter is 11.4 cents, on "penalty" matter 12.1 cents.

The government has always been exceedingly liberal in the matter of carrying newspapers and magazines in the mails. Almost countless tons of such matter are carried every year at a loss. But there is one item of free use of mails that is but little known and little appreciated. All weekly, daily, semi-weekly or tri-weekly newspapers throughout the United States are carried free in the county where they are published.

DUGEX'S SLUG A BIG FEATURE

WACO DEFEATS AUSTIN BY 3 TO 0 SCORE—VISITORS HARM—LESS WHOLE GAME.

LOCALS' HITS NUMEROUS

Only Pitches Good Ball After Opening Poorly—Taylor Is Rapped at Will.

From the moment Dugex opened the game with an awful smash to the ball for three bases until he closed it with a brilliant field of a grounder, yesterday's run-in with Austin was Waco all the way. The final count was 3 to 0 for the coming champs.

Dugex has been going so fast lately that the crowd is beginning to show its old-time worship of him as an idol. But nobody ever put him down as a slugger. So when he cracked the baseball to within three feet of the bull on the fly—well, he surprised a lot of native sons as well as a few ball players.

It was probably the longest fly hit in the history of Katy park and just missed copping $50 cash for the player by a few feet.

But Dugex wasn't the only one that busted out as a slugger. Young Beck, who chokes his bat and drives out singles, copped himself a long two-bagger to right center, to say nothing of a Texas leaguer that bounced over Downey's head and went for a triple.

The locals took an immediate and fond liking to Mr. Taylor's offering. In the first three innings they piled up three earned runs off six hits.

After Dugex had settled on third in the first inning by virtue of his long drive, Beck scored him with a sacrifice fly to right.

In the second inning, after Rennard had gone out, Wohlleben and Crichlow singled in succession and after Carson fanned Prof. Ogle gave a delightful surprise party with a corking drive to left center that scored Wohlleben.

In the third the home boys gave a most disappointing exhibition. Beck opened with his threebagger to right and McLaurin walked, which filled the bases with no one out. Rennard forced Beck at the plate and Wohlleben and Crichlow struck out.

In the fourth inning Carson opened with a long double to right-center, was sacrificed neatly by the Professor and scored on Dugex's long sacrifice fly to left.

Beck, who had been going good, both in effort and at bat, drew the displeasure of Cap Leidy in the fourth inning and was sent to the bench. The fast shortstop had tried to stretch a double into a triple and claimed that Hill at third had not touched him. He spoke just a few words to the umpire and it was with much surprise that the fans saw him benched.

In the meantime, the Professor had been going fine. He seemed a bit wobbly in the opening spasms, but the Senators couldn't hit him and he romped home behind his lead of three runs without being seriously in trouble. The four hits he allowed were scattered in as many innings.

Beaumont, July 29.—Beaumont and Galveston again divided a double-header. The second game went seven innings by agreement. Dodd and Peaster started the first game but were retired in favor of Morton and Watson. Morton went on through the second game. Vienna, July 29.—Those Jews who dissent from the Zionist movement, with Israel Zangwill at their head, have now found two new countries where Hebrew settlers could form a majority and so secure an autonomous administration. The advantage of these latest Lands of Promise are now under consideration.

One of them is the Portuguese colony of Angola, in Southwest Africa, and the other a Central American state which may not yet be mentioned, as negotiations are still in progress.

In this connection a congress of the Jewish Territorial organization, with Mr. Zangwill in the chair, here for four days with closed doors.

It was learned that Mr. Zangwill pointed out the great difficulties that had been encountered in finding a suitable country. In 1907 Turkey, fearing an Italian occupation, offered them Barca (or Cyrenaica), the eastern division of Tripoli, but this proved unsuitable for colonization, owing to the lack of water.

An attempt to get land in Australia failed, owing to what Mr. Zangwill described as the narrow-mindedness of the Labor party there. Offers in Mexico and Paraguay had to be rejected, owing to the unsettled state of political affairs in those countries. The proposal to work some concessions of a Brazilian railway company also fell through, owing to the concession proving insufficient.

There remained but Anglo, a rich and fertile country under the Portuguese flag, and a certain Central American state. The Portuguese Chamber had passed a bill opening the former country to Jewish settlers.

The congress passed a vote of thanks to the Portuguese chamber, and a committee was formed to study the merits of the two projects, together with the London council of the Jewish Territorial organization. A Land Mortgage and Agricultural bank, with a capital of 2,000,000 pounds sterling, will be established in London.

The council elected Mr. Israel Zangwill, president mayor; Mr. A. Spielmann (London), and Dr. Jacobmann (Kieff), presidents of the international council of the organization.

BALLOONISTS USE ICE CREAM BALLAST

"UNCLE SAM" PROVES WINNER IN INTERNATIONAL AERIAL PRELIMINARY.

By The Associated Press.

Manassas, Va., July 29.—"Uncle Sam" proved a winner again today when the balloon of that name, piloted by Captain H. E. Honeywell, of St. Louis, landed here in the early dawn, having defeated all other entries in the elimination race from Kansas City to decide which three Americans should take part in the international balloon contest to start from Stuttgart, Germany, October 26 next for the James Gordon Bennett trophy.

Captain Honeywell and his aide, Roy F. Donaldson, spent 35 hours in the air and as the crew files, covered a distance of 925 miles.

"We could have remained in the air all day and if conditions had been favorable would, I believe, have established an American record," said Mr. Honeywell. "But when it began to rain and with a storm surrounding us we were afraid we might be blown out over the ocean."

Allowing for the fact that their course from Kansas City to Manassas was roughly in the shape of a crescent, the airmen estimated that they sailed more than 1200 miles.

Nether Captain Honeywell or his aide had a wink of sleep during the 35 hours they were in the balloon. They have provisions to last many days.

"Did you ever hear of using ice cream for ballast?" asked the captain. "Well, that is what we used, for we had several gallons when we left Kansas City and what was left next morning we threw overboard."

17-DAY BRIDE QUITS SPOUSE ASKS DIVORCE

Lonesomeness of Country As Old Man's Darling Too Much For Young Dressmaker.

Special to The Morning News.

Chicago, July 29.—Seventeen days as an old man's darling in the country, with cows to milk and other farm chores to attend, proved too much for Mrs. Clarabelle B. Shaffer. She deserted the farm and her husband for city life and is now with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Johnson, 1637 West Luntville street.

That was three years ago. Her husband, Gilmore B. Shaffer, of Rossville, Baltimore county, applied yesterday for an absolute divorce in the circuit court at Towson.

"No, I do not intend to fight the case," she said last night. "I will be glad to get my freedom." She cuddled up to the screen at her front window and explained how dear to her heart was the gay life of the city and how dreary the monotony of country life.

"I love the street cars and the theaters, the motion pictures and the friends around the corner," she continued. "The country may be all right for a few days in the summer, but forever—not for mine."

"Did your husband treat you badly?" she was asked.

"Well, he was an old man. He was 43 years old, I am a young girl. I will be 23 my next birthday, and you know three years ago I didn't want to be any old man's pet. Not when I had to milk the cows, cook, clean, do all the work that a woman has to do in the city, and then a lot of outside work."

"I make good money here dressmaking, and I don't have to chop cordwood for anybody, I tell you that."

"Did he make you chop cordwood?"

"Now, say, you have enough to put in your paper now without me saying he beat me or anything like that."

"Couldn't you come to town on the train and go to the theater when you wanted?"

"Go to the theater! Why, that man never gave me a cent in the whole 17 days I was with him. What do you think of that?"

"Did he refuse when you asked him for money?"

"Well, on the level, I never asked him, but he ought to have given me some. Oughtn't he? Why, he never asked me did I want to go to the city not once, and I nearly cried my eyes out, I was so lonesome."

"It isn't pleasant to be way out on the Middle River car line with nothing but a haystack, to smile at and no friends closer than Baltimore street. You get so you would crawl on your hands and knees all the way to town. So I just couldn't stand it. I had to leave."

"Did you love your husband when you married him?"

"Well, he was a good-looking man, for one so old, but I thought it would be nice that it was out there on the farm. But I am just as satisfied here with my father and mother. My father is a motorman. My mother and I run a dressmaking place, so we get along pretty good. There's no kick coming."

"When are you going to get married again?"

"Never!" she shouted, as she pulled down the window.

GO DOWN TO DEATH IN SEA TO BAND MUSIC

Twenty excursionists drown in Baltic as landing stage collapses.

By The Associated Press.

Binz, Germany, July 29.—Of the hundred or more excursionists who were hurled into the Baltic sea when a landing stage collapsed last night, it is known that more than a score were drowned. Twenty-one bodies had been recovered this morning.

All of the victims had come from points in Northern Prussia to spend the day at the seashore. The climax of the holiday was to be a band concert. The musicians on a platform near the sea began to play and a great throng crowded onto the landing stage.

In the midst of one of the band's liveliest airs the landing stage collapsed. A hundred or more persons were thrown into the sea. In the ensuing scramble many persons were hurt and they sank. Others, unable to swim, were drowned before help reached them. Persons on shore did their best to rescue the crazed victims of the collapse, but it was a long time before the work could be systematized with effect.

Waco's federated labor unions, at a recent meeting, adopted resolutions protesting against the use of convict labor in the box and crate factory that is being erected at Rusk. The penitentiary commissioners are directing the construction of this plant.

All business and civic organizations in Texas are invited to join the Waco unions in this protest. The resolution says the principals of unionism are opposed to convict free labor, and this factory at Rusk will place some three or four thousand convicts in direct competition to the hard working Texas laboring man.

MAN WHIPS GIRL ALMOST TO DEATH

GEORGIA'S FATHER'S VENGEANCE FALLS HEAVILY ON HIS SON'S SWEETHEART.

Special to The Morning News.
Macon, Ga., July 29.—Eddie Carter, a young white girl, was whipped at Dawson, Ga., Sunday night by a party of prominent men, headed by W. S. Dozier, clerk of the superior court. She is in a Macon hospital and is believed to be near death. The attending physicians express little hope of her recovery. She has a high fever and there are symptoms of blood poisoning.

The girl's body is so swollen that she is in constant agony. There is hardly an inch of flesh on her body that is not cut or discolored and she cannot bear the touch of clothing or bandages.

Two Macon lawyers have been engaged to prosecute W. S. Dozier, Clyde Dozier and Pope McClung, whom the girl and her sister, Mary Carter, charge, with the whipping. The proceedings will implicate a dozen other men.

Eddie Carter was whipped because W. S. Dozier's 21-year-old son was infatuated with her, and because she refused to swear she would never meet the young man again.

"I loved Vogt Dozier," said Eddie, "and he loved me. Because he wouldn't give me up, though I urged him to do so to please his father, the father and his friends whipped me almost to death."

"Mr. Dozier and his friends seized me Sunday night, put me in an auto and carried me to a grove near Dawson. They took my clothes off and while two men held me, Mr. Dozier lashed me with a buggy whip. A negro chauffeur held a lantern so Dozier could see where to hit me."

The girl alleges that Jim Dozier did his best to dissuade his father from whipping her, and from start to finish protested. She says Vogt Dozier was held a prisoner, fuming and protesting, in the house of a brother, while his father and another brother were maltreating her.

W. S. Dozier in a statement admits whipping the girl and says he did it to save his son. It is reported that Vogt Dozier is so enraged that he has threatened to kill his father and others who took part in the whipping.

SUFFRAGE LEADER SCORES VIOLENCE

BRITISH WOMAN SAYS MILITANCY
HURTS CAUSE; PLEADS THAT IT BE STOPPED.

Charged With Attempt at Arson and Throwing Hatchet at Asquith.

Special to The Morning News.

London, July 29.—The violence used recently by the suffragettes may lead to a serious division in the "votes for women" cause in Great Britain.

Following the attacks on the Asquith party yesterday in Dublin and on the Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna in England, Mrs. Henry Fawcett, on behalf of the executive committee of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies, today issued a protest against the militant tactics of the Women's Social and Political Union, of which Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is the leader.

Plea To Stop Violence.
The union Mrs. Fawcett represents consists of over 200 societies, which have for their aim the procuring of the parliamentary franchise for women.

Mrs. Fawcett appeals to the members of the militant body to stop their violence, which she says is bound to be disastrous to the cause.

Mrs. Fawcett points out that success seems only to be a question of the wisdom and statesmanship of the suffragists, and that their best friends are convinced that militancy is doing the greatest harm to the cause. She adds that when violence is resorted to it leads to crimes undreamed of at the beginning.

Four Committed For Trial.
Dublin, July 29.—As a sequence to yesterday's suffragette assaults, four women in police court today were committed for trial.

Mary Leigh, Gladys Evans, Lizzie Baker and Mary Coffey were charged with throwing a hatchet at Prime Minister Asquith, with attempting to set fire to a theater, and with having in their possession inflammables for illegal purposes.

The police testified that a canister, which apparently contained gunpowder, had been exploded in the theater. They had found on Gladys Evans a bag of gunpowder, a portion of the theater carpet saturated with petrol, and a basketful of lighters.

Three bottles of benzine and a tin of gunpowder also were discovered by the police authorities. Their testimony brought out the fact that many lives had been endangered by the fire.

Mary Leigh Old Offender.
Mary Leigh admitted hurling the hatchet at Mr. Asquith's carriage. She has long been a leader in the violent tactics adopted by the militant suffragettes. In July, 1908, she was arrested for breaking windows in a suffragette demonstration in London. On being sentenced to two months in prison at hard labor, she told the court:

"The next time we come out you can expect bombs."

A year later Mrs. Leigh was again sentenced to two months at hard labor at Birmingham, and on being released, brought damage suit against the government for forcible feeding while in prison.

The woman is described by the British police as "the most troublesome suffragette" with whom they have had to deal. She was convicted for the eighth time in London last November for smashing windows, and was sentenced to two months in jail without the option of a fine.

TRIAL OF WOMAN CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO MURDER
HUSBAND BEGINS.

Officers Tell of Finding Victim Lying
In a Pool of Blood.

By The Associated Press.

Atlanta, Ga., July 29.—Mrs. Daisy Grace's trial on the charge of shooting her young husband moved forward swiftly today. Within two hours after the former Philadelphia woman had entered her plea of not guilty, a jury had been secured and prosecution had begun the introduction of witnesses.

When court adjourned late in the day the sixth witness was undergoing direct examination. More than 20 others have been summoned.

It was a day devoid of sensational developments.

Woman Near Swoon.

Grace's entrance into the court room stretched on a cot furnished the one dramatic moment of six tiresome hours. Mrs. Grace, brought face to face with her husband for the first time since the night of her arrest, paled and trembled. She would have swooned if the nurse at her side had not administered a hypodermic. Grace showed no sign of recognition. Subsequently, frequently he manifested a lively interest in the proceedings, conferring often with the prosecutor. Never once, however, did he bend his glance in his wife's direction.

Throughout the day the attorneys for Mrs. Grace thwarted every effort of the prosecution to unmask the batteries of the defense.

The first witness for the state was Policeman R. A. Wood, who went to the Grace home on the morning of the shooting in response to a telephone call. They found the doors locked.

Lying in Pool of Blood.

They entered through a back door but were forced to break down the door to Grace's room. Grace was lying across his bed wounded in a pool of clotted blood. A pocket book containing a check for $2,000 was found on the mantle.

Policeman James S. Dorsett testified that he and other officers found a cigarette case but no jewelry. He went down stairs and found a pistol. "I broke it and found one chamber fired. It smelled strongly of burnt powder. Grace's finger nails were of

STEAMERS MEET GIANT ICEBERG.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, July 29.—Hundreds of passengers on the Mauretania and the Adriatic, which docked last Saturday, were grave-faced from the memory of three nights ago, when both boats steered out of their course to the southward to avert the fate that the Titanic met and which was fatal to 1634 persons.

Both liners saw a great iceberg in the North Atlantic, more than 1000 feet long and 200 feet high, of the same general appearance as that which sent the great White Star liner to the bottom.

On the night of July 16, at 12:30 a. m., the lookout on the Adriatic sighted the iceberg. Passengers who were still up gathered in frightened groups and looked at the giant that had come down out of the north.

The next day at 1:30 o'clock the Mauretania sighted the berg. She had been running at 25 knots. The engines were at once slowed down to about ten knots. The night was similar to the one on which the Titanic sank. There was no moon, but it was clear and cold and starlit. The temperature of the water and air was so low that Captain Turner turned south.

The captains of the liners said that it was almost unprecedented to meet ice so late in the season.

MOTHERS FIGHT THE TIGHT SKIRT

ST. LOUIS WOMEN DECLARE THE PRESENT STYLE IMMODEST
AND UNGRAACEFUL.

Special to The Morning News.

St. Louis, Mo., July 29.—The presidents of the thirty-first St. Louis circles, National Congress of Mothers, met this afternoon, with Mrs. James G. Nugent, president of the Missouri branch, to discuss the question of the present day styles in women's dress. It was decided to inaugurate a campaign against the tight fitting skirt.

"This is not the first time the subject has been discussed by the St. Louis Circles," said Mrs. Nugent. "But at this meeting we hope to devise plans for overcoming these extremes in styles. I favor the moderately short and moderately close-fitting skirt, because it is convenient, does not collect dirt as a longer garment would, and is cleaned easily."

Some Carry Things Too Far.

"There is a class of people, however, who carry all such things too far, and we think it is time to act in a preventive way against letting the situation become any worse. I believe this subject should be taken up by women's organizations of all kinds. What our congress will do in a remedial way I am not able to say. We hope many feasible plans will be suggested, and that we can select from them some scheme of making all women realize the need of abolishing such uncomfortable, immodest and indecent styles as the very tight skirts now so common."

"We may ask the ministers to discuss the subject. The Rev. M. H. Lichter has already denounced the tight fitting skirt and the enormous earrings, which he described as 'chandeliers.'"

Would End Present Styles.

Mrs. F. W. Baumtor, president of the State Sunshine society, said she favored a campaign against tight skirts.

"I hope something can be done to end the present styles," she said. "They are both immodest and ungraceful. A pretty form is desirable, but it is not a matter of public display. Such dresses on young girls are immodest and suggestive. On matrons they accentuate the size, if nothing else."

Mrs. Dan. W. Knefler, president of the Women's Trade Union league, declared that if she had a daughter she would forbid her to wear skirts of the type now prevalent. They are not decent, she said.

Ugly If Carried To Extreme.

Mrs. Everett W. Patterson, prominent in the art section of the Wednesday club, defends the tight fitting skirt as long as it is not carried to an extreme.

The flowing draperies of olden days are more artistic, but the close fitting skirt is convenient and comfortable. It is ugly only when carried to extremes.

WOMAN SWIMMING TUTOR, MAD, PERILS LIVES OF GIRL PUPILS

Suddenly Goes Insane and Orders the Class to Follow Her on Five-
Mile Trip.

Special to The Morning News.

Copenhagen, July 29.—A woman teacher of swimming went insane recently while instructing a lot of girls in the sea near Helsingborg. She suddenly started to swim out to sea, and ordered all the girls to follow her to Elsinore, five miles away. All obeyed but one, who swam ashore and called for help. Several motor boats hastened to the rescue of the girls and picked them up in various places.

The teacher was picked up just as she was going down for the last time near Elsinore. She was taken ashore and placed in an asylum.

IRISH WOMEN FIGHT THE WHITE PLEAGUE

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY CO-OPERATION WITH THE COUNTY OFFICIALS.

Two Large Societies Gain in the Battle Against Consumption in Emerald Isle.

Special to The Morning News.

Dublin, July 29.—One of the most important features of the working of the insurance act in Ireland is the Women's National Health association, organized by Lady Aberdeen. This association has 18,000 members in Ireland and 150 branches. Lady Aberdeen established it in 1905, when she came back to Dublin as the wife of the viceroy for the second time in the following year. It is a voluntary association, and was doing extremely good work in regard to public health before the insurance act was introduced. It was recognized, too, as an extremely useful institution in the interim report of the departmental committee on tuberculosis, which referred to it as follows:

"Altogether the provision available in institutions outside the poor law for the treatment of cases of tuberculosis is extremely small, considering the large death rate from disease. The committee desire to express their appreciation of the work done in Ireland by the Women's National Health association. They are of opinion that every effort should be made to assist and develop the work of the association."

When the insurance bill was introduced Lady Aberdeen saw its great possibilities from the point of view of the work of her own association, and as soon as the bill became law she proceeded to take the necessary steps to clean the full advantage of it by starting an "approved society" under the auspices of the Women's National Health association.

Consequently, out of the nucleus of the W. N. H. A., she started the Sianthe (Health) society, which was approved by the commissioners, and is now one of the largest approved societies in Ireland.

The Sianthe society, acting in conjunction with the Women's National Health association, has a very big card before it. The Irish point of view. Of course this includes dispensaries. Both, however, require time to get into working order. That is where the Women's National Health association comes in. It already has an organization at its disposal, and it has very generously offered its advice and services to such councils of counties or county boroughs as may be unable, for a little while, to make the arrangements necessary to put them in a position of providing the necessary accommodations under the act for tuberculosis patients.

Lady Aberdeen's association is quite prepared to stand aside after the local authorities have succeeded in starting their own necessary machinery.

The headquarters of the Sianthe (Health) society, and also of the W. N. H. A., are at Ely House, and at present the officials there are absolutely overwhelmed with correspondence in regard to the new approved society, and to this and that point in the act. The officials are enthusiastic in regard to their work, but the most enthusiastic and energetic of all is Lady Aberdeen herself, who keeps in constant personal communication with the office, and follows the development of the work of the society with the keenest and most intimate interest.

Swallowed Disinfectant. Chicago, July 29.—Alveta Talbot, colored, tried to commit suicide by taking a dose of disinfectant last night at her home, 325 North Mount street, after a quarrel with her husband, Charles Talbot.

Alveta had heard of the quick work of carbolic acid, but she had none of that death-dealing fluid. But she did have a supply of disinfectant furnished her by the matron at the Northwestern police station. She knew that its purpose was to kill germs and insects and that it smelled powerfully strong. So she thought it would serve the purpose.

Alveta swallowed a good dose. She was soon in agony, but a neighbor summoned the Southwestern patrol automobile, and she was taken to the Franklin Squire hospital. Dr. W. B. Wilson extracted the disinfectant by means of a stomach pump and Alveta is still alive and in fairly good condition.

COTTON HAS ONE OF MOST ACTIVE DAYS

ALL DELIVERIES MAKE NEW HIGH RECORDS ON EXCITED BUYING MOVEMENT.

By The Associated Press.

New York, July 29.—It was one of the most active days of the season in the cotton market and all deliveries made new high records on an excited buying movement inspired by apprehensions of crop damage in the south. Realizing was extremely heavy on the advance and the market was more or less unsettled in the late trading with prices easing from the best closing steady, net 2 points lower to 6 points higher.

The opening was irregular at a decline of 9 points to an advance of 6 points, near months being relatively easy in sympathy with rather disappointing cables and owing to the circulation of August notices. During the early trading prices eased off to a net loss of about 8 to 10 points under quotations by old longs and local selling for a turn, but the August notices were soon stopped and the market firmed up during the middle of the day on the official forecast for continued dry weather over the greater part of the belt and the detailed weather reports showing extremely high temperatures for the past twenty-four hours in Texas and Oklahoma.

There was trade buying, a fresh demand from outside sources, and covering of shorts on the advance which caught stop orders and during the early afternoon October contracts sold at 13.20 and December at 13.25 or practically a cent a pound above the low level of last Monday. Realizing began sensationally heavy at this level and while the market showed no lack of buying orders for execution on a scale down, prices eased off some 12 or 13 points from the best in the last trading.

A good deal of trade buying noted here during the morning was reported to be for account of New England mills who were said to be influenced by reports that Texas shippers are demanding 110 points on New York contracts for October shipments and by private reports of deterioration in the western belt as a result of drought conditions.

WEEK OPENS ON STOCK EXCHANGE IRREGULAR

MINORITY REPORT OF STEEL PROBING COMMITTEE STARTS HEAVY SELLING.

By The Associated Press.

New York, July 29.—The week in the stock market opened with continuance of a very dull and irregular condition that has marked conditions on the exchange during the past fortnight. The only appreciable difference was an increase of bearish sentiment augmented by some activity from the same quarter. The confidence felt in crop prospects seems to be offset, temporarily at least, by less tangible influences, among which may be cited the political outlook.

The minority report of the congressional committee which investigated the United States Steel corporation, calling for federal regulation of all corporations, whose capital exceeds a fixed amount, and other criticisms leveled against large corporations, was used as a basis for selling of steel shares in the early part of the day's session with sympathetic reactions in other speculative favorites.

American sugar and beet sugar issues declines sharply by reason of tariff agitation at Washington, while a few of the mediocre securities group added to losses of recent days. Some recovery from the low level was made in the late afternoon and Norfolk and western attained a new high record, but the movement as a whole served little purpose beyond calling attention to the ultra professional character of the trading.

Bonds were irregular with weakness in Missouri Pacific issues. Total sales par value amounted to $1,532,000. Government bonds were unchanged on call.

BLACK RUST REPORTS BOOST WHEAT PRICE

CORN ALSO CLIMBS DUE TO HEAT AND DRYNESS IN KANSAS AND OKLAHOMA.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, July 29.—Conceded possibility of greater black rust damage than previously estimated put the wheat market today on the up grade. Closing prices were firm at 1/2 to 3/4 net advance. Corn scored a gain of 1/4 to 1 1/4, and oats a rise of 1/2 to 1 1/4. The finish in provisions varied from 2 1/2 lower to an advance of 7 1/2. Sales of 30 boat loads helped offset bearish effects of cool winds in the spring belt and huge receipts south-west.

Extreme heat and inadequate rainfall in Kansas and Oklahoma where corn is in tassel made the price of that cereal ascend rapidly. Oats advanced in sympathy with corn.

Support from packers lent steadiness to the provision market despite larger arrivals of hogs than was looked for. The upturn in corn aided. At the end of the session prices for most part ruled within five cents either way of the figures current at the previous close.

COTTON SEED PRODUCTS.

By The Associated Press. New York, July 29.—The cotton seed oil market was firm in the face of 5,000 August notices on covering due to steady light offers of crude oil and the unfavorable weather in the southwest, closing 7 to 11 points net higher. CLANDESTINE LETTERS NOT NUMEROUS IN WACO

POSTMASTER HOFFMANN SAYS RULING MADE TO REDUCE WORK IN OFFICE.

Postmaster W. H. Hoffmann says the order of the postmaster general regarding the restrictions on the use of the general delivery department of the postoffice is but revising a rule that has long been on the books of the department, and it is being emphasized now so as to reduce the work in that department.

"The general delivery window ought to be open but a portion of each day," said Mr. Hoffmann. "There is no reason why one man should not in a few hours dispose of all the work of the general delivery window in a city of this size, with so many free delivery facilities for all the people. As it is, three clerks are required for the full eight hours. Much of their time is taken up with cleaning out trash that comes from mail order houses which are using old mailing lists, and the people have either died or moved away."

"Another trouble is that when a man changes his local address he fails to notify all the newspapers and magazines which are coming to him, to change the address on the wrapper. If the people who patronize the office will but help us out by keeping all addresses in proper shape we will have much less work to do at the general delivery window."

"The statement that the general delivery window is used for clandestine correspondence and correspondence by boys and girls is not correct as to Waco. It may that way in some cities, but Waco is as free of this trouble as any place in the country."

COMPLAINT AGAINST SON SWORN OUT BY FATHER

Stubborn Mule and Shotgun Are Said to Figure in Alleged Controversy.

A complaint charging Martin Abren, 29 years old, with an assault with a gun on his father, John Abren, was filed in county court Monday. Both are farmers, living a mile east of town.

They quarreled Saturday morning and hostilities continued all day, it is said. Martin objected to plowing behind a stubborn mule, the report says, and had a good horse picked out for the work when the father told him to use the mule, as he wanted to use the horse.

The son then became angry and insisted that the father should not use the horse, according to the complaint, and, securing a shotgun, kept his father away from the barn all day, it is stated. He warned him against getting within shooting distance, it is reported. John Abren signed the complaint.

Dog Population of Waco Decreasing Collector States

Waco's dog tax fund is not growing any too rapidly, according to the city collector. There are not as many prized dogs in Waco this year as in past years, because taxes have been collected on only 568 of them. This includes the tax on 52 female dogs.

Meanwhile the dog catchers are active. The "dog days" are at hand, and two or three rabid dog cases each week are reported to the police. The police are often called upon to go in chase of a mad dog. While some of the dogs are not really mad, they act suspiciously and are made the targets for bullets and stones just the same.

RHODE ISLAND BAND WOULD PLAY FOR COTTON PALACE

Waco Musician Offers Services of the American Brass Band of Providence, R. I.

Harry J. Spanell of Waco offers to the Cotton Palace association the services of the American Brass band of Providence, R. I., the second oldest band in America. The band of 34 men was the official band at the Portland Exposition twice, the Minneapolis Exposition several times, and has filled numerous engagements at Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, Denver, Philadelphia and other fairs and expositions. This band plays everything that any band can possibly play, all members playing together for years and practicing every day.

Warren R. Fales, the conductor, is a multi-millionaire and a musician known all over the world.

Through Mr. Spanell he has made a low price to the Cotton Palace directors so as to have the band become known in Texas. His western tour during last year was a tremendous success everywhere. All of his musicians are artists of the first rank.

W. H. Hoffmann, president of the Cotton Palace, said last night that no proposition from Mr. Spanell had yet reached him.

ECCENTRIC FARM WORK. BUT IT WAS A WINNER

Agricultural Methods of Englishman
In Indiana Were Novel, But They Paid.

Special to The Morning News.

Los Angeles, July 29.—On a neighboring farm lived an English gentleman who certainly had some novel methods of working.

His farm consisted of some clay lands. In the center of this farm was a very rich, black field that had formerly been a swamp.

The soil was made up of decayed vegetation, and when drained was as loose as an ash heap.

In this field he annually grew potatoes and watermelons. When the Colorado potato bug came around he headed them off in this way:

He planted the potatoes in drills and leveled the land smooth. When the potatoes began to come up he ran along the rows a cultivator and covered all the young shoots under.

In a week or so when they made a second appearance he did the same thing, using a larger shovel on the cultivator. This was done the third time, using a single shovel plow, which left the rows properly hilled up.

The bugs never got a chance at the potatoes—got disgusted and looked for other fields to work on.

The covering of the shoots seemed to help, for when they were left to the light and air they grew tremendously thrifty. His potato crop was always the wonder of the community.

He raised watermelons and lots of them, but not for the usual purpose they are grown.

He pressed the juice from the melons, boiled it down in copper evaporators to a fair syrup and with this syrup he used apples for thickening, to make apple butter, and it was of a quality hard to beat.

He supplied large quantities of it to the nearby markets and at good prices. The syrup was of finest quality and much of it was used.

JOHN WESLEY GAINES SWATTED THE NEGRO

Former Congressman, Nearly Run
Down By Auto, Belabored
Chauffeur.

Special to The Morning News.

Nashville, Tenn., July 29.—John Wesley Gaines, former congressman from Nashville district, early today became angered when a negro chauffeur narrowly missed running him down with an automobile.

Clinging into the moving car, Mr. Gaines began to belabor the negro. In trying to defend himself against the enraged congressman, the negro lost control of the machine, which crashed into a telegraph pole and broke things up considerably.

Mr. Gaines was unhurt. He was arrested on a charge of assault and battery, but was released on bond.

SUICIDE ON RAPID INCREASE.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, July 29.—Figures collected by statistical experts here seem to show that suicide is increasing at a rapid rate throughout the United States. Reports from 100 cities show a general rate of 19.6 per 100,000 of population last year as against 17.7 for 1910. The United States census gave the 1910 rate as 16.9 for the entire registration area. The cities with the largest proportion of the suicides per 100,000 of population were: San Diego, Cal., 59.9; Elmira, N. Y., 47.8; Waukegan, Ill., 41.2; Sacramento, Cal., 39.9; San Francisco, 37.5; St. Louis, 37.2; Denver, 35.7; Los Angeles, 35.2. The rate in New York is 16.5 and in Chicago, 21.4. During the past two years the rate has increased in sixty cities and decreased in thirty-nine. The rise is confined chiefly to relatively smaller cities.

AUTO HITS STREET CAR RIDERS NOT CONCERNED

YOUNG WOMAN AND MAN NOT EVEN ALARMED WHEN AUTO
SIDE IS CRUSHED.

When an automobile ran car, carrying a young woman in a white dress and shirtwaist and white calla lily hat and a young man in cap and shirtwaist collided Monday afternoon with a Provident Heights street car at Twelfth street and Washington avenue, the street car was brought to a slow stop and the side of the automobile was crushed in to such an extent that the young man was unable to budge it from the spot. But until some seconds after the accident the couple remained seated in the car such apparent unconcern that, for all appearances, they might have been calmly watching a Texas league ball game from the press box on the grandstand roof.

In fact, just before the collision took place the two motorists were spinning out Washington avenue at a—well, rather fast—and the young man seemed wholly absorbed in close conversation with the companion at his side, apparently oblivious of the approaching car. The street car started to cross Washington at Twelfth, returning from the Heights. It struck the big seven-passenger Oldsmobile touring car squarely amidships, skidding it over the gravel from the right to the left-hand side of the street, going out. The sound of the collision, which suggested the dropping of a heavy dry goods box to the sidewalk from the roof of a tall building, was heard for a distance of two blocks and soon a good-sized crowd had gathered.

At length the young lady stepped out of the buzz wagon, leaving her companion at his place behind the steering post. After he had tried for several minutes to start the Olds, the machine was removed from in front of the street car by several men, and the latter then came into town.

"How did it happen?" asked a representative of the News, stepping up to the young lady.

"I hardly know," she drawled, rearranging a refractory strand of hair over her ear. "We were just going out Washington and—well, we were rather engrossed in conversation at the time, and I did not know there was danger ahead until we were struck by the street car."

"What are your names?" was asked. "Our names? Oh, my! Now surely you don't want to print our names. That wouldn't do—no, I can't give you our names. Now, don't put anything about it in the paper, will you not?" And there you are.

TYPEWRITER OPERATORS ARE WANTED IN THE NAVY.

Government Calls It Yeoman Branch and Offers Salary of $33
Monthly.

If a young man is any good at all in man-handling a typewriter and is in ordinary physical trim, he's good for a dandy job in the United States navy. The navy is offering special inducements to young men just now in an effort to build up its Yeomanry branch. Recruiting agents have been advised to pay particular attention to probable yeoman recruits.

Yeomen perform all the clerical work in the navy—on board and off. They enter the service at a salary of $33 per month. If they have knowledge of both typewriting and stenography their pay is $38 per month. Enlistments in the Yeomen branch have been scarce for the last several months. Good men are needed.

Recruiting Officer Bower, in charge of the Waco station, says he has not had a single application for enlistment in the Yeomen branch this month.

Hospital for Dogs and Cats is Added to Waco's Assets

A hospital for pet dogs, cats and fine horses is the latest addition to Waco's long list of institutions. Dr. R. H. Hodges, the city veterinarian, has established this hospital in the old Metropole barn. It is the only one of its kind in Central Texas.

Special attention will be devoted to the ailments of dogs and cats. First class accommodations have been installed for these cases. A sick feline will receive all the care that the most particular sort of an old maid could give it. A sick dog will have a bed just like a human being, and it will get its meals regularly. All the latest ideas in dog and cat culture will be followed.

EARLY ELECTION REPORT MADE FROM FIRST WARD.

Gabriel Winters Accommodating.
"Strike" in Ward 4 Delays
Partial Returns.

Gabriel Winters, judge in charge of the polls at the city hall Saturday, had a kindly feeling for the public. He saw to it that a report came from his box every two hours. Although the clerks were tired and weary, they did not complain when a count was taken every two hours because they realized that hundreds of people were up town that night yelling for election "dope."

Mr. Winters' box was the first to report after the close of the polls. At 7:20 he announced the count of more than 150 ballots on every race from senatorial on down.

A "strike" among the clerks delayed the results in Saturday's election at Box No. 1. Only one early report was given out from this box. When 1 o'clock Sunday morning rolled around, three of the clerks got their coats and hats and went home, leaving some three or four hundred uncounted ballots.

The judge had promised to give out a partial count at 3 o'clock for the Sunday morning papers. When the hour came, the report was not ready.

"These clerks promised to work on until the finish on condition that they would not be interrupted," the judge said. "If I stop them and have them make a count they are liable to get mad and go home."

So the public heard nothing from Box 4 until the finish which was about 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

SAYS WOMEN MENTALLY ARE MEN'S SUPERIORS

Lecture On Woman's Rights In Odessa
Elicits General Comment
From Educators.

Special to The Morning News.

Odessa, July 29.—Mrs. Klamonovich, a pioneer leader of the women's rights movement in Russia, delivered a spirited address here recently to an attentive audience of some 2000 women, chiefly of the intellectual class, sparsely interspersed with auditors of the other sex. The police made no demand to the holding of the public meeting, the first of its kind in this city.

Mrs. Klamonovich is a brilliant speaker, and in tenor and substance the main lines of her address appeared to be largely based upon some of the public pleadings of the non-militant leaders of the women's movement in England. There was, of course, not the remotest hint of the newly organized association adopting any forcible methods for the purpose of bringing its propaganda into public prominence. The movement has a very solid support in academical circles. The great majority of university and gymnasium professors are strongly in favor of improving the civil status of women, and the movement is enlisting a considerable measure of support among the politicians and political publicists, and more especially among the members of the constitutional democratic party in the state drama.

A distinguished professor in the natural gifts and high and alert intelligence of the lady, Florence, attending the university lectures in various faculties easily outpace the male students. Since the removal of the disqualifying barrier which prevented women from attaining barristers' rank and appealing as pleaders in the civil and criminal courts, there has been a remarkable increase in the number of lady candidates in the faculty of jurisprudence. Medicine has also a similar attraction for women, and there are now close upon 200 attending the medical section of the university.

The Ladies' Higher Course Institute in this city is now attended by 1500 students, and at least 50 per cent of them are qualifying for one or another of the learned professions. The civil emancipation of women is a very live and strikingly progressive movement in modern Russia, and so far it cannot complain of any serious opposition arising from class bias and prejudice. There is a very wide field in various important directions for woman's work in this country.

CUPID PLAYS LOSING GAME WITH TEACHERS

ONLY THREE WOMEN OF COUN-TY CORPS MARRIED SINCE
SPRING, ABBOTT SAYS.

Cupid hasn't annoyed the county public school system very much the past year. In making up his family list for the fall opening of the schools County Superintendent Abbott finds that only three women teachers have capitulated to the little Love God since the spring close. Practically all of the former teachers will be in the line-up this fall, he says.

The county faculty will be increased before the opening in the fall. A new school, organized in the western part of the county, will be called Canfield. Two teachers will be maintained here. An additional teacher will be supplied at both Reisel and Battle and at other schools in the county. The county has maintained only one summer school this year. It is in progress at Leggett and will continue until the end of August.

ARCHBOLD TRIAL NOT BE HELD BEFORE FALL

JURIST DENIES CHARGES MADE
BY HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 29.—The definite assertion was made by leading members of the senate today that the trial of Judge Archbold of the commerce court will not be undertaken by the senate court of impeachment before next fall.

Judge Archbold formally denied to the senate's sitting as a court of impeachment that he ever had used his office or his influence as a judge for profit, that he ever undertook for a consideration to compromise litigation before the interstate commerce commission; that he never wrongfully used his position to obtain credit from litigants before him or that he had undertaken to carry on a general business for profit or speculation in coal properties.

To each of the thirteen articles of impeachment, Judge Archbold replied that none, even if true, constituted an impeachable charge, a high crime or a misdemeanor as defined by the constitution. Many statements contained in the allegations were not disputed, while others were totally denied and annulment of others was asked on the ground that they were vague to admit of proper defense.

Orders All Money In Circulation Called In to Create Panic

Washington, July 29.—"The king of America," who says he lives in Curryville, Mo., has commanded Secretary MacVeagh to call in all the money in circulation and create a general panic.

"This," said the king in a letter received at the treasury department today, "would produce hard times and prevent a labor war."

Officials filed the king's letter and announced they would take a chance of disobeying the royal command.
